

POMMEL

CUSHION

Pressure relief and stability with a detachable pommel.

The Vicair® Pommel Cushion is ideal for users with adducted conditions, where the knees or thighs are pulled together. The cushion is divided into four adjustable sections with a removable high pommel secured with a velcro strap. The pommel can be removed for forward standing transfer or for toileting in the chair. Available in 10cm depth (and 6cm as a custom item), the Academy Pommel cushion contains Vicair's unique SmartCell™ construction air cells, which provide stable body positioning and pressure relief as well as increased flexibility. Unlike most pommel cushions, the Vicair pommel is covered separately, rather than inside the cushion cover, making it easy and more convenient to remove and replace.

As with all cushions in the Vicair® range, there is no compromise between pressure relief and stability. The Vicair® Pommel Cushion is lightweight, reliable and can be easily customised to fit the user's body contours and, because it is designed to be virtually maintenance-free, the user can enjoy uncompromised levels of comfort and support.

The innovative Vicair® Technology system encourages correct pelvic positioning and pressure relief where it is most needed.

Vicair® Technology is a customisable system of small, flexible cells contained in strategically placed compartments of the cushion. These cells have a low friction level when in contact with each other and thus continuously adapt and conform to the body's contours.

The low maintenance Vicair® Pommel Cushion uses air trapped inside hundreds of small, flexible, fabric coated cells, so there are no concerns about the cushion deflating or leaking bags of gel. If one is damaged, the single cell is replaced, not the entire cushion. It's also very easy to clean; the outer cover is machine washable and the inside cushion can be simply wiped with an all-purpose cleaner.

With Vicair® SmartCells™ interacting to adapt and conform continuously to the body's contours, the Vicair® Pommel Cushion gives excellent pressure relief and stability to promote better positioning and balance, combined with a custom designed non-contact area.
